DE LACY'S CIN-KO-NA AND

MOST POWERFUL STRENGTHENING TONIC IN THE WORLD

And an Absolute Cure for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Malaria and All Stomach and Nervous Troubles.

HUNDREDS OF SUCH LETTERS AS THE ONES BELOW COME EVERY DAY FROM CURED AND GRATEFUL MEN AND WOMEN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na is a Grand Medicine for Stomach Troubles. So says Mrs. Edgar, a well-known St. Louis lady.

"I cannot recommend De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na sufferers from nervous dyspepsia or stomach troubles. I was troubled so badly that I could hardly eat any-thing and did not enjoy what I did eat. I fried many dyspepsia cures, but only received little or no relief. A neighbor lady who had taken De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na recommended it so highly to me I con-cluded to give it a trial and I bless the day I did, for I have, I am sure, been cured entirely. I am so thankful that I am very glad to add my testimony to your list. I am sure if every lady who is nervous, or who is troubled with dyspepsia or stomach trouble will give it a trial, that a few doses will convince them, as it did me, that it is a Grand, Good Medicine." "The great basels."

"The great benefits I have derived from the use of your 'De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron' impels me to bear this voluntary testimony to its efficacy. Physical and mental strain and irregularity in eating produced in my case a loss of strength, nervous derangement and indigestion. Induced to try your 'De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron,' I quickly found in it relief from the horrors of indigestion and shattered nerves, and a restoration of strength. It works like a charm, building up and toning the entire system. As a strengthener, nerve tonic. and cure for indigestion it is a matchless remedial agent. If all the over-worked, nerve-racked and dyspeptic men and women could know of it, and be sufficiently impressed with its virtue to give it a trial, it would prove a veritable boon to humanity and the demand for it be something enormous. Yours respectfully. THOS. H. GRUBBS, 1444 Lucretia Ave. St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 26, 1903,

very uneasy over his condition. He was terribly run down and extremely nervous, and having read and heard so much of De Ley's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron, friends, I decided to give it to my little son.
It has done him so much good in so many ways that I feel I am doing a father's duty to give De Lacy's Cin-Ko-Nå my most hearty indorsement. I only hope that all parents of delicate, frail, nervous children will hear of the great good DeLacy's Cin-Ko-Na and Iron has done my child and will give it to their children and make them strong and well, which I am sure it ll." described as one of the finest in the world.

The truth about Belem has never been toid before. The authorities have carefully and rigorously hidden the facts from the public, especially from Americans in this country. Only one newspaper, the Monitor, a small daily, bitterly antagonistic to the Government, has ventured to describe the horrors of the prisen. DEATH BY STARVATION.

Those who enter the prison without money run the gauntlet of death by starvation, fever and exposure. Prisoner are required to supply their own bedding, and they are supposed to buy their food, although the authorities are instructed to although the authorities are instructed to feed them. At best, the rations consist of bread and water in the morning, for dinner caldo soup, which Americans, however voracious, cannot eat because of its abominable taste, and bread and water in the evening. If a prisoner manages to smuggle money into the prison he can buy enough food to sustain life, but usually he is stripped of his money. The legal trials of imprisoned Americans are delayed in hopes of securing ball moneys, which fall to the authorities should the accused disappear after their liberation on ball.

Necessarily Americans suffer more than Mexicans in Belem because less accustomed to the privations they must endure. More than 60 per cent of the lower classes of the City of Mexico have never slept in a bed, so most Mexican prisoners can rest almost comfortably on the cold stone floors of Belem. As many Mexicans live on corn and beans exclusively, Mexican prisoners sustain life on prison rations. Uncleanly the Mexican can endure the vermin, although often Mexicans who have been killed by this horrifying evil. Compelled to sleep on the damp floors, Americans contract rheumatism in its most acute forms. Eyes to read of their sufferings would be abborrent.

SEVERE SYSTEM OF TORTURE. It will be hard to convince people in the United States that in the leading the United States that in the leading prison of Mexico exists a system of tortures to compel testimony and to punish selected prisoners. This system is based on the principles of the Inquisition of Spain. Americans who have read the highly descriptive articles declaring Belem to be the most modern institution of its kind on the Continent will be increduious when told that there are cells in Belem built after the same plans as those in Italy for prisoners sentenced to terms of "a year and a day." The "octagonal cells" of Belem are 5 feet high, 3 feet long and 2 feet wide. The wretch confined in one of them cannot stand, sit or lie without suffering. Prisoners are locked in these chambers of torture for periods of twenty-four hours to two months.

An American who was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment for the murder of a Mexican twelve years ago has been in an octagonal cell for the past six months. During this length of time he has been visited by but one friend, an American, who managed to see him by resorting to a ruse. This friend describes the condemned man as being insane and having a ghastly yellow complexion. It is probable that there are many other prisoners in the same condition, but visitors are not allowed into the section reserved for those subjected to the extreme punishments.

An investigation into the conditions in the "octagonal cells" would result in revelations that would startle the civilized world. prison of Mexico exists a system of

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Albany, N. Y., Oct. 31.-New York

State's general hospital for the treatment of inciplent tuberculosis is practically com pleted and will be ready for the reception of patients with the edvent of the new year. It is situated at Ray Brook, Essen County, in the Adirondacks, and repreto care for incipient tuberculosis. The site is most desirable. Its immediate exposure is to the south and east on the side of a well-wooded mountain, and its immediate elevation above sea level is 1,539 feet at the base of construction. The winding of Ray Brook through a level field and its expansion into Ames Pond furnishes an agreeable foreground to a landscape of infinite variety. To the far right, Ampersand and White Fac-Mountains are lined in the horizon; traced to the left lie succeeding lesser heights, yet is safeguarded by a complete modern system.

The buildings are the most modern in construction that pains and experience could command. The base areas of the several structures are as follows:

Administration building proper, 4,950 square feet; auxiliary buildings, including kitchen and cold storage, 2,268 square feet; boiler and dynamo rooms, with coal pockets, 2,539 square feet. The base area of each payllion, including solaria, is 6,644 square feet, or 12,232 square feet for both, or for all four apartments, 2,555 square feet. The connecting corridors and adjunct solarish have each a base area of 4,450 square feet.

QUARTERS FOR OFFICERS.

QUARTERS FOR OFFICERS. Again, considered separately, a floor area of 18,600 square feet is occupied by administration and service, including quar-ters for all officers and servants, and a ters for all officers and servants, and a general dining-room for patients, $.224 square feet. The sleeping apartments for patients present a floor area of 18,136 square feet and the various solaria a total area of 14,566 square feet, presenting a grand total of 28,668 square feet devoted to the walfare of patients, or, based upon the provision of the law, it affords 190 square feet for sleeping apartments for each patient, and 140 square feet for solaria or recreation space.

The apartments are divided into individual rooms and small wards for three or four patients. The individual rooms are sufficient in number to accommodate the new patients and those presenting the open-air pavillons of temporary construction.

Doctor Willis G. MacDonald of this city, a member of the Board of Trustees of the New York State Hospital for Incipient Tuberculosis, says that "as the institution develops in its construction it has been found that it presents great internal possibilities for expansion without additional expense to the State, and with a supplementary development of open tents or barracks at a small expense, the capacity of the hospital may be multiplied.

"Every effort has been made to secure quarters completed for the reception of patients by the 1st of January, 1904. Delays, however, through dilatory contractors and their inability to secure building material, will undoubtedly further postpone for a brief time the final inauguration of the hospital. The administration and auxiliary buildings, as well as the connecting corridors, are now inclosed and in process of final finish. When completed a limited number of patients may be immediately received, before the completion of the payllion primarily designed for patients.

"The modern Adirondack treatment of tients.

"The modern Adirondack treatment of tuberculosis presents many of the features of an extended rest cure and implies little physical exertion. While in agreement with the plan, especially during the first months of treatment, when, however, the process becomes stationary or has assumed the pathologically passive condition of damage done, I can see no reason why, during convalescence, patients tion of damage done, I can see no reason why, during convalescence, patients should not take, under appropriate medical supervision, such physical exercise as appears conductive to their return to active life and its responsibilities.
